Streets Deserted in Sikeston's Negro Section

(Star-Times photos)

Only one person, far down the street, is visible in this picture made late Monday in Sunset Addition, the Negro settlement of Sikeston, after lynch law reigned. Terrified residents of the addition kept to their homes until tension in Sikeston subsides.

Clippings from the Sikeston Standard dated February 3, 1942 at Sikeston, Missouri.